Entrepreneurs

Accelerate your business

Clean technology entrepreneurs and growth companies use the Cleantech Network™ to accelerate their fund-raising and raise their visibility, speeding their time-to-money.

Becoming a member of the elite Cleantech Network is the most effective way for growing companies to bolster their capital-raising efforts, and connect with the money and influencers in clean technology.

Become a member of the Cleantech Network and:

- Identify which investors are most active in your sector, with full contact information
- Receive discounted admission to premier Cleantech Forum Events to build relationships with investors
- Raise your company's visibility among the cleantech ecosystem, e.g. installers & distributors

Entrepreneurs targeting opportunities in clean technology work with the Cleantech Group to open doors with potential partners and raise their visibility in the industry ecosystem.

Since 2002, the Cleantech Network has been connecting the power players of the sector. It has emerged as the best resource to help partners accelerate their new business opportunities in the sector.

2,300 investor relationships

3,000 deals tracked

5 global Cleantech Forum events per year

100,000 industry insiders/month reached via website

"[We received] many important and high quality business connections and partnership opportunities."

- David Wu,
Net Power Technology Ltd.

Networking events

Membership includes discounted admission to one of the Cleantech Group's global Cleantech Forums®, where entrepreneurs connect with the investors, thought leaders and other power players in cleantech. Since 2002, the Cleantech Group's Cleantech Forums have been where deals have been struck, with billions of dollars raised to date.

Market data

Access a database of every investor who has invested in a cleantech company, with their full contact information. See where capital is flowing, in what clean technology sectors, dating back to 2001, and who's been getting IPO and M&A exits. Be the first to learn of industry trends and which competitors are getting funding. Make wiser decisions with up-to-date market information.

Members also receive email alerts on companies approaching the Cleantech Group seeking funding—a source of competitive intelligence, and a source of validation of emerging technology markets.

Market insight

Research from the Cleantech Group helps entrepreneurs and their management make better decisions. Industry trends for emerging and growth stage technologies are available, as is insight into cleantech opportunities by geographic region. Companies with clean technology products to sell benefit from analysis of new trends in their sectors.

Pricing

Membership in the Cleantech Network begins at $2500 USD / year. Exact pricing varies by organization type, needs, desired features and number of logins.
