Since 2002, the Cleantech Network™ has been multiplying investors' success in the clean technology sector. In becoming members of the Cleantech Network, investors gain immediate industry insight, business opportunities and international relationships, helping jump-start their clean technology activity.

Become a member of the Cleantech Network and:

- Access new, high quality investments through the world's most comprehensive database of global companies seeking capital and weekly global cleantech dealflow
- Gain competitive advantage and mitigate risks through market-leading cleantech data, research and webinars
- Speed due diligence and understand trends, and
- Raise your company's visibility among entrepreneurs, fellow investors and others

Since defining and introducing cleantech as an investment category in 2002, the Cleantech Group has been tracking the market worldwide every day, building relationships, amassing data and connecting the power players of the sector. Its Cleantech Network has emerged as a de-facto industry association, helping partners accelerate their new business opportunities in the sector.

1,000s of new deal opportunities tracked, more every week

2,300 other investor relationships for partnerships/syndicates

3,000 deals tracked globally

6 offices worldwide uncovering global opportunities

"The Cleantech Network's resources have proven to be valuable tools ... we have a long list of valuable contacts we have made through our association with the Cleantech Network."

- Chuck McDermott, RockPort Capital

Market data

Access the same market-leading databases that drive the statistics the media reports on. See where capital is flowing, and to and from whom, dating from 2001. Be the first to learn of industry trends, and the sectors other investors are putting money into.

Investors also receive email alerts on companies approaching the Cleantech Group seeking funding. Get the jump on deals before others.

Networking events

Membership includes discounted admission to one of the Cleantech Group's global Cleantech Forums®, at which you may build relationships and form syndicates with fellow investors, as well as meet thought-leaders and other power players. Gain access to top-notch investment opportunities pre-screened by professional investors. Since 2002, the Cleantech Group's Cleantech Forums have been where deals have been done.

Market insight

Access industry trend research on emerging and growth stage technologies, and geographic regions. Get the story beyond the data with research from the Cleantech Group. Don't miss implications of latest trends.
